At EPAX, we've recently expanded our definition of marine oil purity to include more than environmental pollutants. We now also include limits for the unhealthy oxidative by-products formed during manufacturing. How can EPAX guarantee this level of quality? First, we begin with high-quality oil. Our superior manufacturing technology then gently purifies and concentrates the oil without over-processing it. The last step is to stabilize the oil using our special antioxidant blend. By setting new higher standards, we guarantee a safe, pure product for you and your customers. So make sure you choose EPAX.

EPAX guarantees a product that is virtually free of the unhealthy by-products that result from over-processing or improper handling:
